

Council By the Numbers

When City Council kicks off another season next Thursday, there will be less than two months until Philadelphians vote on Michael Nutter's ethics-reform package. If it passes, those seeking no-bid contracts of more than $10,000 with the city will no longer be able to give more than $2,500 a year to elected officials and candidates. Here's a list of top campaign contributors to each councilperson.
